

Channel Seven leading the way as demand for news grows

Seven confirms plans for expanding news coverage

August 9, 2013: Channel Seven today released details of its two new national news bulletins.

- Seven News at 7: Melissa Doyle will present a live half-hour bulletin at 7pm on 7TWO from Monday August 12.
- Seven's Afternoon News: Melissa Doyle and Matt White will co-host an all-new national afternoon bulletin on Seven from Monday August 19 at 4pm.

Network News Director Rob Raschke said: "There has never been a greater demand for news than there is now and Seven is determined to give Australians more choice. That's why we're investing in news.

"Our team is the best in the business. Our presenters are highly credentialed, experienced journalists, skilled at delivering news as it unfolds. These are exciting times."

Joining Seven's Afternoon News team is meteorologist David Brown, veteran sports journalist and presenter Jim Wilson, and network finance commentator Scott Pape – known as The Barefoot Investor - who will provide detailed, easy-to-understand analysis of financial matters affecting all Australians.

For further information, please contact:

Sacha McDougal

Publicist

M: 0417 667 482

E: smcdougal@seven.com.au