

Nothing but the Best Bits on Seven

Never miss out on the Best Bits of TV ever again as Sam Mac brings it all together for viewers at 10pm, Tuesday March 29

(21 March 2016) Even the most dedicated television viewers can't catch every unique, funny and awkward moment that goes to air each week – which is why BEST BITS is going to be their new favourite show!

Every fun, surprising, laugh out loud moment that is screened on TV around the world will be vying for a starring role on BEST BITS, where it will be scrutinised and dissected by four of our favourite, sharp-witted comedians each week.

"Best Bits is the show I was born to host," says Sam. "Although I did say the exact same thing about Embarrassing Bodies.

"I'm a TV nerd so this show will be the perfect opportunity to have a laugh at just how ridiculous entertainment is in 2016. Except for Channel 7 shows which are always meaningful, expertly produced and world class," adds Sam.

In its simplest form, the show is a bunch of funny people dissecting TV clips and viral videos. A unique take on the week that was with a massive injection of comedy, BEST BITS will relive the highlights and lowlights of popular culture in a weekly hit of regurgitated clips.

"Best Bits turns TV clips into a half hour of television hilarity," says executive producer Matt McPhail. "It covers the entire gamut of our viewing habits at a cracking pace which means it is always funny and fast moving. Its pace means you never have to wait long for the next big laugh."

BEST BITS is produced by The Downlow Concept in association with Seven.

BEST BITS premieres Tuesday, March 29 at 10pm.
